Girl Scouts of California's Central Coast Hosted:
Reach for the Stars: Tardeada with Dunia Elvir, Telemundo
News Anchor, Girl Scout Mom and Troop Leader.

Ventura, CA – Girl Scouts of California's Central Coast (GSCCC) hosted an inspiring event on Saturday August 25, 2018 at Pacifica High School Performing Arts Center. GSCCC partnered with Dunia Elvir, Telemundo News Anchor, Girl Scout Mom and Troop Leader to discuss women leadership and the positive impact Girl Scouts has on the community.

Girl Scouts of California's Central Coast celebrated an evening for her future, your future and our future. Girl Scouts can help your Girl thrive by instilling courage, confidence and character! At the event, Girls were able to discover all that the Girl Scout program provides. Activities were set up at program stations and information tables were set up outside for parents, mentors and community members to explore Girl Scouts volunteer opportunities. GSCCC CEO Jody Skenderian said, "Reach for the Stars provided families with inspiration and resources for building their daughter's leadership skills."

Girl Scouts of California's Central Coast is committed to making the Girl Scout Leadership Experience available to all girls in ways that impact their lives both in the moment and the future. Parents can learn more about Girl Scouts from a Girl Scouts of California's Central Coast staff member by calling 800-822-2427.
